

Young Scholars' Poster Session Digital Transformation in Governance and Society (YS-DTGS – 2022)

June 23, 2022, St. Petersburg, Russia

Young Scholars' Poster Session "Digital Transformation in Governance and Society" (YS-DTGS – 2022) will be held on June 23, 2022, in St. Petersburg, Russia, within the framework of the international conference «Internet and Modern Society» (IMS-2022).

YS-DTGS is an academic event for students and young scholars (under 35 years of age). It provides a collaborative platform for young researchers to discuss transformative impact of digital technologies.

The session is co-organized by the Laboratory for Social and Cognitive Informatics (HSE University in St. Petersburg) and the E-Governance Center (ITMO University).

The key topic of YS-DTGS – 2022 is related to the digital transformation of governance and communication. We welcome multidisciplinary papers that apply approaches from the social sciences and humanities to the research on social and political institutions, practices, human communication and other behavior in cyberspace, as well as offline, if those are directly influenced by digitalization. We are especially interested in papers falling into the following topics:

- Digital Transformation of Governance and Public Administration;
- E-Governance, E-Government, Digital Government;
- Smart Cities, Digital Transformation of Urban Systems;
- Public Participation and Civic Engagement Online;
- E-Participation, E-Voting and I-Voting;
- Online Communication and the Social Media Research.

PROCEEDINGS

We welcome original papers, which are neither published nor considered for publication elsewhere. The language of the submissions is English. All submissions undergo double-blind peer review by the Program Committee.

Best papers will be published in the IMS – 2022 Proceedings. The authors will be given an opportunity to publish articles of up to 10 pages in English in CEUR-WS, indexed by DBLP and Scopus (<http://ceur-ws.org/>).
